

TITLE III PROGRAM

(Board of Trustees Meeting, October 22, 1967)

Concerning the Title III program, which is a program under which more senior institutions assist developing colleges like the College of the Virgin Islands, the Board agreed, after discussion of several prospective associations, to work with the University of Connecticut as the institution which combined more of the qualities important to our development than any of the other institutions under consideration. The President was authorized to proceed with the application.
